

Many years have passed since seeing my first electron as a boy at Gulf Harbour. Being a keen sailor on big boats I was always keen to add RC yachting to my skill set. 20 years gone by and I couldn't wait any longer, living and working in Palmerston North has been great. But I needed to sail! This thought brought me back to the idea of RC, simple, easy to move and easy to maintain. Alas the electron, after a short investigation I found The Fox (393) for sale on trade me and pulled trigger on it. So here she is sailing in Hokawhitu lagoon next to some Js. I also intend to sail down on the Kapiti coast as well. Let's get more electrons in the lower north!

Also if anyone has any history on The Fox, please share

Cheers
